

VOICE 4 Girls, in partnership with SoCh for Social Change, launched the E4 for Social Impact Leadership Program in 2020. A program designed to help women find their role in the social impact space, it includes modules on development theories and leadership, as well as peer coaching by industry experts. This enables participants to come up with an action plan to work in the community, as well as understand their leadership styles.

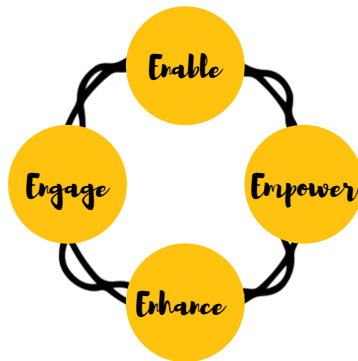

Email us at:
communications@voice4girls.org
silt.bootcamp@gmail.com
Call us at:
+91 8688832040
www.sochforchange.org
www.voice4girls.org

Scan the code to apply!

E4 FOR SOCIAL IMPACT LEADERSHIP

What is E4?

The E4 module is designed to provide budding women leaders with the following thematic knowledge:

Enable: a broader understanding of social, impact, and leadership in the development sector

Engage: in the 'why' and 'how' of their passion and interest

Enhance: their leadership skills

Empower: themselves to become agents of change.

The program is divided into two phases

Phase 1: Learn concepts related to the development sector from industry experts. Attend Master Classes by guest lecturers on Project Management and Leadership. Attend Panel Discussions and widen your network.

Phase 2: With the help of peer coaching sessions, develop an action plan for yourself and work towards achieving your ultimate goal.

IF YOU ARE A PASSIONATE WOMAN
LOOKING TO HONE YOUR LEADERSHIP
SKILLS AND REFINE YOUR ACTION
PLAN TO WORK IN THE COMMUNITY,
APPLY!

What will you learn?

Understanding Development Theories

Learn about Problem Solving, develop projects with Log Framework

Understand Human Centered Design

Recognise your leadership styles

Network with women leaders from the development sector

Who can apply?

- This program is for people who identify themselves as women
- Have minimum of two years of work experience
- Want to understand leadership in social impact space
- Want to finetune their project development skills

E4 for Social Impact Leadership Cohorts have had industry experts as Facilitators and seen a plethora of women leaders from the social sector as Panelists

Anusha Bharadwaj
Executive Director, VOICE 4 Girls
Founder-Director, SoCh for Social Change
(Facilitator)

Christina Munroe
Director of Alumni Engagement
East-West Center, Hawaii
(Facilitator)

Sharanya Gautam
Manager of Training and Capacity Building
Corstone
(Co-Facilitator)

Abishek Bharadwaj
CTO and Co-Founder of Equatorial Power,
Uganda

Vanitha Prabu
Operations Director, VOICE 4 Girls

Facilitators

Guest Speakers

Panelists and External Evaluators

Audrey Morey
U.S.Consulate

Shalini Chaudhari
Infosys

Nalini Raghuraman
British Deputy High
Commission, Hyderabad

Priyanka Varma
Azim Premji Philanthropic Initiatives

Mrinalini Shastri
Six Yards Plus

Vibhuti Patel
TISS Mumbai

Mandeep Jhaji
TribesforGOOD

Likitha Bhanu
Terra Greens

Prathyusha Parakala
Climate Force Ambassador

Vandana Vijay
Offbeat Tracks

Panelists and External Evaluators

Natasha Ramarathnam

Sashi Velath
Bridge Insite

Sahana Jose
Nilekani Philanthropies

Deeptha Umapathy
The Kind Capsule

Archana Rao
Global Community Engagement

Kathy Walkling
Eco Femme

Vyshali Sagar
AWS

Smarinita Shetty
IDR

Participants Speak

Before I joined the E4 program, I did not believe that I can be a leader. I was mainly doing ethnographic research but I felt stuck. I wanted to do more but I did not know what to do. The E4 program has helped me to recognise my leadership qualities, but more importantly, it helped me to recognise the areas in which I need to work in order to become a good leader. I want to venture more in the development sector and take up operational work of projects. I believe I have the skills, but I definitely need to work on my communications and networking skills.

Anuprova Ghose

After the E4 program, I am focusing more on strength based leadership. The VIA test helped me to recognise my strengths and also gave me the confidence to use it to better my leadership skills. I always knew that I am a leader, but my performance anxiety stopped me from taking a lot of actions. Now, I believe in taking those small steps everyday towards my goal. I want to work towards creating an excellent teacher education model in the country and that is what I am working towards now. The tools that I learnt in the program are making much more sense now that I am using them everyday.

Aishwarya Kayande

The E4 program has been a very essential step in my journey to the world of social impact. After the program, I find myself more equipped to reach my goals. I feel like I now have a direction to head to, which was missing earlier. Identifying my strengths helped me take better decisions at work as well. Most importantly, meeting people with similar aspirations, similar goals and beliefs and listening to stories of the guests built a sense of confidence about me having switched from corporate to the development sector. I am truly grateful to the facilitators and the organising team of E4 for weaving empathy and strength at the core of this program.

Shivani Karnatak

Yashasvini Rajeshwar

.... that is what makes E4 different from all the other programs. It focuses on giving us a hands on experience on readily applicable practical tools to make us better leaders in this social-impact world. I hope there are many more E4s to come and generations of women leaders in the social-impact sector.

The E4 programme has been extremely illuminating for me. I have just started my career in the development sector, and I felt I needed support and direction, which the E4 programme provided to me. I hope more womxn leaders and practitioners get this opportunity to learn and discover themselves.

Raina Bhattacharya

APPLICATIONS
OPEN